Cultural Competence: Cultural competence is defined as a set of congruent behaviors, attitudes, beliefs, practices and procedures that come together in a system, agency, or among professionals to enable that system, agency, or those professionals to work effectively in cross-cultural situations. The word culture implies the integrated patterns of human behavior that include thoughts, communications, actions, customs, beliefs, values, and institutions of racial, ethnic, religious, or social groups. The word competence implies having the capacity to function within the context of culturally integrated patterns of human behavior defined by the group.

Limited English Proficiency (LEP): The inability to speak, read, write or understand English at a level that permits effective interaction with health care providers.

Procedure

Significant language differences will be determined using definitions from the reference “Policy Guidance, Title VI Prohibition against National Origin Discrimination as it Affects Persons with Limited English Proficiency” and the “LEP Analysis from the 2000 Census”.

Clinical Services

Forms requiring signatures (consent to treatment, release of information, ability to pay) and other vital documents (anything to which individuals have to respond) will be in language that is understandable to persons served. This particularly applies to persons whose primary language is English or Spanish. These are the two populations within our safe harbor designation for LEP. Voice interpreter services will be made available to people with LEP when the population in the community may be too small to justify the translation of forms, i.e., non-English or Spanish speaking.

Person-Centered Plans, surveys, etc., will also be presented to individuals in understandable English, Spanish, or other languages as requested/required.

Clinical forms, such as assessments, will contain questions to address cultural/religious needs. Assessment questions will be asked using language understandable to persons served. Communication assistance will be given to people with sight and hearing impairments.

Interpreter services will be provided for those individuals who speak a language other than English, or for those persons with hearing impairments who need someone to sign. An interpreter should not be a family member of the individual and under no circumstances should an interpreter be a child. The Agency contracts for interpreter services that are available as needed. Interpreter services will be provided at no expense to persons served.

The Agency shall ensure that interpreters and bilingual staff can demonstrate bilingual proficiency, receive training that includes the skills and ethics of interpreting, and demonstrate knowledge, in both languages, of the terms and concepts relevant to clinical or non-clinical encounters. Family or friends are not considered adequate substitutes, in part because they usually lack these abilities, however, the basic premises of Person-Centered Planning prevail. If individuals ask that an adult family member or friend interpret for them, their desire must be honored, however, the Agency will make an effort to confirm that the family member is interpreting accurately. Health and safety issues may be a basis for refusing an individual's request for a family member to interpret.

Recipient Rights training is mandatory for all interpreters. Contracted interpreters sign an agreement regarding the confidentiality of treatment.

Physical access to clinical services will be guided by specifications set forth by the Americans with Disabilities Act, i.e., leader dogs will have access to all clinic sites with their owners, etc.

Training

BABHA supports the efforts of staff to achieve and maintain a high level of cultural competence along with the ability to work effectively with individuals with LEP. Therefore, in collaboration with the Human Resources Department, the Staff Development Center will develop standards for cultural competence and LEP training for all staff. Staff will receive cultural competence training on an annual basis and LEP on an ongoing basis.

The goal of training is to enhance the ability of staff to comprehend and incorporate the cultural diversity of the community in which services are provided, and to provide services in the most effective and meaningful manner possible to meet the needs of persons served. As a result, training is:
